I further understand it may be a criminal offense to give a seller a resale certificate for a taxable item which I know, at the time of purchase, is purchased for use rather than for the purpose of resale, lease or rental. INSTRUCTIONS

The four border states of Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas, together with the United Mexican States have formed the Border States Caucus to work out programs to promote trade in the southwest region of the United States of America in accordance with the objectives set out under NAFTA. The Caucus has developed the attached certificate to simplify the transactions in accordance with the objective set out under the NAFTA Agreement in the border area. Businesses buying goods for resale in these states or the northern border strip and border region of Mexico which will be transported across state and/or national borders may use this certificate in lieu of a state resale certificate. Goods are materials and other tangible property. The certificate must be completed by the buyer and given to the seller. The seller must retain this document as part of its accounting records. The seller must not accept an incomplete document as it may be invalid. Similarly, the seller must insure the claim is applicable, that is, the type of goods fits the description of the purchaser's business and is likely for resale in that business. Laws vary by jurisdiction so that misuse of this certificate by a purchaser may be a criminal offense or a civil penalty. Regardless, all competent authorities of the respective jurisdictions will actively validate use of this certificate and vigorously pursue appropriate legal action for its misuse. If you believe this purchase is tax exempt for other reasons than resale, you must use the local state form to claim that exemption.
